

Pat Hunter is presented the Secretary of the Year Award by Dr. Merrill.

First runner-up for the award was Suzanne Truette and second runner-up was Dot Mallon.

Awards surprise winners at luncheon for secretaries

"I'm still in a state of shock!" said Patricia A. Hunter, Gallaudet's Secretary of the Year for 1981, after being surprised with the award at the secretaries luncheon April 22.

Hunter received heavy applause and a standing ovation as President Edward C. Merrill, Jr. presented her with a plaque "in recognition of exemplary professional contributions to the mission and goals of Gallaudet College" and a $500 check.

A secretary with the National Academy, Hunter began working at Gallaudet in March of 1972 for the Placement part of the Counseling and Placement Center. In 1974 she started working with Public Service Programs, which is presently called the National Academy.

Said Hunter after the luncheon, "I want to thank all the many friends and coworkers, and all the people that I don't know but hope to get to know, for their support. And special thanks to Dr. Merrill for making the award possible. I love you all."

Receiving a $300 check and the award for first runner-up was Suzanne Truette, a secretary with the Russian Department. Receiving a $100 check and the award for second runner-up was Dorothy Mallon with the Counseling Department.

The winners were selected from among 22 nominees by a screening committee comprised of members selected by the vice president of each division.

About 160 persons attended the luncheon, which was held at the Quality Inn on Capitol Hill to recognize all of Gallaudet's secretaries during National Secretaries' Week. Gallaudet has about 180 secretaries, including extended temporaries.

Merrill, who began by saying "Let me see if I can remember what my secretary told me to do," shared part of a poem written by a deaf woman to a deaf child and thanked the secretaries for their many contributions to the College before presenting the awards. He said the criteria used to choose the winners were level of technical skill, professionalism, sensitivity to deafness and the deaf community, knowledge of College policies and procedures, and involvement in professional development.

Lillian Holt, coordinator of the event, introduced screening committee members who were present at the luncheon and recognized members of the ad hoc committee who planned the awards luncheon: Marcha Cahoon, Patricia Foddrell, Carol Talbot, Elizabeth Ailstock and Sandy Dupree. These people were responsible for developing the criteria for the awards, publicity and posters.

Master of Ceremonies for the event was Flower Billberry, and the invocation was given by Marcia Cahoon. Peter Wisher and his Gallaudet Dancers provided entertainment. and Eric Malzkuhn with the MSSD Drama Department did a humorous monolog and performed three poems he had written, one especially for the secretaries.

Other secretaries who were nominated for the award were Linda Beavert, Jean Buchanan, Karen Dean, Sandra Dupree, Elaine Fischer, Anna Fowler, Clara Gillespie, Pearl Hawkins, Shirley Hoffman, Myrta Johnson, Esther King, Agnes Muse, Monica Payne, Polly Peikoff, Sara Pradier, Norma Sines, Carol Talbot, Tonona Taylor and Linda Wright.

Persons help themselves to plenty of good food at the secretaries luncheon.

No Summer Day Camp

In an attempt to reactivate the Summer Day Camp program for children of Kendall Green employees, the Office of Summer Programs recently made a campus-wide survey.

The survey questionnaire sought to determine the number of families who would be participating, provided that escalated daily and weekly rates were implemented. Higher enrollment fees, according to the Summer Programs Office, would be necessary because sufficient funds are not available or budgeted for this summer.

Unfortunately, there was not a sufficient number of affirmative replies to the questionnaire, which was distributed campus-wide. Thirty-two responses were received. Sixteen respondents indicated that they would enroll their children (a total of 27) in the Day Camp. Another 16 indicated they would not be using the Day Camp. The higher cost was noted as a concern by both interested and non-interested respondents.

The Summer Programs Office is fully aware of the need that many families have for an on-campus day care program during the summer while their children are out of school, and it is with deep regret that a program cannot be offered this year.

In cooperation with the Division of Business Affairs and other divisions on campus, the Summer Programs staff will begin planning in the fall for a Day Camp program in the summer of 1982. It is hoped that some reallocation of funds as well as a shared financing plan will make it possible for the College to offer again a program at reasonable cost to participating families.

Awards Night

Awards Night will be held this Wednesday, May 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the Gallaudet Auditorium. A reception will follow in the Cafeteria. All members of the campus community are invited.

Student organizations will be presenting awards to faculty and staff members, and about 100 students will receive various kinds of recognition for outstanding achievement.

DRCC actions

A number of actions and discussions were undertaken at the March and April meetings of the Deafness-Related Concerns Council.

The DRCC held a joint meeting with the Task Force on Interpreting in March and with the Task Force on Deaf Employment in April. A result of these meetings was a recommendation to Central Administration that a campus-wide policy statement be established immediately:

- Instructors/students participating in a class not function as interpreters.
- Individuals participating in any meeting not be used as interpreters for that meeting.

The DRCC said that since problems in these areas are encountered on all levels of the institution, the policy should be campus-wide and should apply to all Gallaudet undertakings, whether on or off campus.

In other action, the DRCC decided to establish a Task Force on Physical Barriers to look into needs of deaf/blind persons, since complaints keep recurring about problems involving insensitivity to their needs, the latest being raised strongly at MSSD.

Also taken into consideration were concerns that are currently upsetting deaf people working at MSSD. The DRCC found that many of the concerns raised parallel those that the DRCC has already identified as campus-wide problems.

Discussion continued on possible recommendations for giving recognition to staff members for manual/visual communication skill.

The point was raised that many people do not read On the Green regularly, and the DRCC discussed how deaf individuals on campus could become more aware of the purpose and function of the DRCC. Suggestions included sending an introductory memo or holding special introductory meetings. The recent nominations and elections procedure involving direct contact had resulted in many questions and a desire for more information, according to the DRCC.

Faculty members discuss by-laws

A small group of faculty members gathered for an open house on Tuesday, April 21 to discuss a draft of the By-Laws for a Collegiate Faculty.

Under the new by-laws, the undergraduate and graduate faculties would be combined into one group, to be called the Collegiate Faculty. Within this group, a Graduate Council would make decisions on matters pertaining to Graduate School policies and faculty members.

The draft of the new by-laws was prepared by an ad hoc Committee on By-Laws Merger comprised of Kurt Beermann, chair, Carol LaSasso, William McFarland, Richard Meisegeier and Raymond Trybus.

Since this meeting, the proposed by-laws have been sent to both faculties as a whole for consideration. Each faculty will decide whether or not to support the new by-laws. If there is no opposition, a joint meeting of both faculties would be held at which time the by-laws could be debated. The by-laws would be adopted when a majority of the faculty vote in favor of them. They would go into effect when approved by the Board of Trustees.

Both the undergraduate and graduate faculties voted last year to approve in principle the merger of the two faculties, with the stipulation that the Collegiate Faculty include a Graduate Council. This approval followed a recommendation in April, 1980 by Committee S, the undergraduate faculty Continuing Self-Evaluation Committee, to both faculties that the merger take place. Committee S's recommendation followed the Page Report, a faculty study on the place of the Graduate School at Gallaudet.

At the April 21 meeting, Dean of the Graduate School Gilbert Delgado congratulated the ad hoc committee on its work and said, "I think we have a good start." Along with several other persons present, he expressed concern that under the new by-laws draft, regular faculty meetings are only scheduled twice a year, the second Tuesday of November and the second Tuesday of April.

Meisegeier explained that they had in mind to use half to a full day for each meeting instead of the short monthly meetings that now exist.

Vice President for Academic Affairs John Schuchman, who said the concept of one-day meetings did not bother him, said he was intrigued by the possibility of having an open meeting where things are highlighted and then breaking up into committees during the day. "In any given faculty meeting, not everyone is interested in listening to or discussing the same topics," he explained.

Under the new by-laws, a number of standing committees would include representatives from all the faculty, whereas previously, the undergraduate and graduate faculties had separate committees.

Both the chairperson and the secretary of the Collegiate Faculty would be faculty members, and the vice president of Academic Affairs would be an ex-officio non-voting member of all committees, except the Committee on Nominations, Academic Discipline and Grievances. Schuchman raised the point that the chairperson of the Collegiate Faculty is responsible for coordinating the committees but would not serve on any of them. This is because of the chair were on all committees, he or she would no longer be a working faculty members said Beermann.

The Graduate Council would consist of seven members, elected from the Collegiate Faculty, whose primary responsibility is with graduate level programs. The graduate dean would be an ex-officio, non-voting member of the Graduate Council.

Robbery suspect caught at College

On Thursday, March 23, a robbery suspect was apprehended by the Metropolitan Police on the Gallaudet campus.

According to the Department of Safety and Security, the armed suspect, being sought in a robbery which occurred on H Street, ran onto campus through the 8th Street entrance. He was pursued by a helicopter and the DC police, who made an arrest just inside the Gallaudet property.

Campus Police Officer John Copper-smith was on the scene and positioned himself at the gate.

DOSS at press time did not have the name of the person arrested or the details of the robbery.

NIH holds its own

Despite an inflation rate of about 9.5% in biomedical research—addressed by a proposed budget increase for NIH of only 7.1%—the 11 research institutes are proposed to fund as many research training grants (10,000) and a few more competing project grants (4,900) in FY '82 under the proposed Reagan administration budget. The competing grants are expected to average $116,700 each.

Overall, NIH is proposed to be funded at $3.762 billion in FY '82, more than half of which would be earmarked for research project grants. The House Budget Committee this past month recommended an additional $100 million for NIH in FY '82, but this money is still several stages from final approval and, for now at least, NIH is working with the Reagan figures.

Of particular interest to Gallaudet College are the two NIH institutes, the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke (NINCDS) and the National Institute on Aging (NIA). In FY '82, NINCDS is proposed to have a budget increase to $276 million from $249 million in FY '81 and NIH to $84 million in FY '82 from $74 million in FY '81. Gallaudet College has pending proposals or existing grants with each of these institutes. More information on the expected NIH budget in FY '82 may be obtained from the Office of Sponsored Research.

A Message from the President

Student Body Government

The greatest threat to any democracy seldom comes from outside the nation. I am aware that we have nations that have aggressive tendencies and who are militaristic in their attitudes. Even so, the greatest danger to any government of the people occurs when the people themselves take freedom for granted and fail to participate in the government itself. On the contrary, a democracy is healthy, even when there is considerable disagreement, when the people are active, interested and participating.

Student governments of various colleges and universities are no exception to this rule. Students deserve a government of their own, for a student body government establishes a duly constituted representative government, provides channels of communication, provides an interface with the administration and the faculty of the institution and provides a means of leadership.

I want to welcome the new student body president, Mike Ubowski and the new vice president, Charisse Heine, to their respective offices. I will be working with them through the Student Advisory Board on which they serve. I depend upon the SBG to inform me about the major concerns of students and the opinions of students on important issues and policy matters.

I trust that all faculty, staff and administrators will recognize the vital role of the SBG and its officers and actively collaborate with them during the next year. If this is done, students will realize the important role they play in making Gallaudet College the best and most responsive college in the nation.

TDD problems discussed at Council

Following up on problems with defective TDDS on campus, a subject of concern at the last College Council meeting, Purchasing Manager John Hartman presented information on TDDs at the April 24 College Council meeting.

Hartman told Council members that he had written to MICON, the company that manufactures the MCM/D, which is widely used on campus, to express concern about problems both with the quality of new MCM/Ds and the servicing of defective ones.

Hartman said that the Services and Purchasing Department is now recommending different types of replacement TDDs for people on campus: the Porta Printer Plus for people who want a written tape, and the AMCOM I which does not have a tape. He also noted that the Purchasing Department has TDDS that can be loaned to departments while their MCMs are being repaired.

College Council members also discussed concerns on the part of both deaf and hearing users with TDD etiquette. On the Green will soon publish an article on TDD courtesy.

In other action, the Council endorsed a new policy and changes in two existing ones. The new policy, on release time for sign language instruction, stated that supervisors shall make provisions for release time to staff members for participation in sign language instructional programs.

In the existing policy on tuition assistance for employees' children, the major change was inclusion of a statement, for employees' information, that all tuition assistance monies are considered to be taxable income and must be reported as such by both the College and the employee in the annual income tax statement.

In the policy on educational assistance, a basic change was that funding for such assistance will be derived from a College-wide employee benefits pool, instead of being allocated by department. Also, Gallaudet employees, their spouses and children can enroll for sign language courses, as well as other courses offered by the College, without tuition charge.

The Tower Clock has lost its faces, and some people are speculating that it's either because someone wants to clean out the pigeons or because of Daylight Savings Time. Or maybe the clocks are being replaced by digital ones, as we stated in our April 1 issue?

Deaf-Blind convention scheduled

During the week of June 20-27, the Sixth National Open Convention for Deaf-Blind Persons will be held on the Gallaudet campus.

The convention is being jointly sponsored by the American Association of the Deaf-Blind, the Helen Keller National Center for Deaf-Blind Youth and Adults, and Gallaudet College.

This convention is important for a number of reasons. 1981 has been designated as the International Year of Disabled Persons. The convention will provide the opportunity for individuals who are hearing-vision impaired, hearing impaired and hearing to meet together and participate in a variety of activities. One of the objectives of the convention is to foster better communication among these three groups. Another objective is to provide a forum for hearing-vision impaired persons to share common concerns and create solutions for their special needs. In addition to these meetings, there will be on-campus activities, off-campus tours of local monuments and museums, and social events.

In order to ensure that each participant can be fully involved in the week's activities, volunteer interpreter/guides are needed. Volunteers for the convention will be given free room and board for the week and will have the opportunity to participate in a two-day training workshop on June 18 and 19. During the training, communication modes, interpreting techniques, guiding techniques, medical aspects of deafness and blindness and the special psychological needs of deaf-blind persons will be discussed.

Volunteering during the convention is open to both hearing impaired and hearing individuals.

Anyone interested in serving as an interpreter/guide or attending as a participant should contact Arthur Roehrig with Hearing-Vision Impaired Programs at Gallaudet, College Hall Room 215, x5541.

CEC awards dinner

The Council for Exceptional Children, DC Federation #24, will hold its Sixteenth Annual Awards and Dinner this Saturday, May 9.

The event will be held at the Quality Inn, Capitol Hill. Reception begins at 6:30 p.m. Subscription is $18 per person.

Mayor Marion Barry has proclaimed the week of May 3-9, 1981 as Exceptional Children's Week in the DC Metropolitan area.

Reservations are necessary for the awards dinner. For further information contact Mrs. Gladys Clark-Johnson, 767-8143.

Mrs. Glen R. Swann III, president of the Washington Alumnae Chapter of Delta Zeta, presents Physical Education Professor Peter Wisher with a citation for his service to the College at a Delta Zeta benefit held Sunday, April 26. Wisher was also presented with a $1000 check for Gallaudet College, $500 to go to the Delta Zeta endowment for scholarships and $500 to go to the Gallaudet Dancers. Wisher's PE class and the Dancers performed at the benefit, which was attended by Delta Zeta members, their guests and persons from the campus community. Delta Zeta's Washington chapter has been actively providing support for the College for 25 years and this year holds a benefit to present the College with $1000. In addition to the other check, Delta Zeta gave another small check to Gallaudet in honor of Wisher.

Gallaudet College is an equal opportunity employer-education institution. Programs and services offered by Gallaudet College received substantial financial support from the Department of Education.

Professional Development programs

You may have participated in a Professional Development Program at some time, but are you aware of the variety of services and training programs that are available?

Professional Development has two equally important functions. The first is to provide personal and career growth opportunities through training programs and information seminars. The second is to provide assistance to departments in meeting specific training needs, facilitating change and providing a link to the many services of the Personnel Office.

Training programs are developed to serve specific requests or to fulfill a demonstrated need. The campus population and specific departments are surveyed and individual recommendations are considered before programs are offered.

Training programs focus on three areas: College policies and procedures, job skills and topics related to communication and deafness. Courses are generally voluntary and any cost is assumed by the department.

Other forms of departmental assistance depend on specific requests. Assistance can take many forms, including tailored training and group workshops, personnel and staffing guidance and other services that may be provided through the Personnel Office. Such comprehensive programs have the greatest potential for positive impact on the department and the individual.

A tentative calendar of Professional Development programs has been established for 1981. Specific announcements and registration information will be distributed four to six weeks prior to the beginning of a course. For more information, contact Steve Kallan, x5113 (voice or TDD).

Pilot secretarial program to begin

A new Pilot Secretarial Training Program sponsored by the Division of Business Affairs will begin June 29.

The program was conceived to help eliminate obstacles that entry-level hearing and deaf applicants face in applying for secretarial vacancies on Kendall Green. The six-week program, to be held June 29-Aug. 7, will provide basic office skills, a concentrated typing class and specific seminars on policies and procedures at Gallaudet.

Each morning, students in the program will attend seminars/training classes, and each afternoon they will improve their skills in an office setting on campus. Departments can request student assistance through this program and will be responsible for paying the students' wages for actual hours worked.

Departments interested in hiring training program participants during the six week session should contact Jo-Anne Jones (x5511 or x5512, voice or TDD) or Malcolm Grossinger (x5656, TDD).

The Personnel Office is also soliciting applications for enrollment in the program. Applications must be received no later than May 15, 1981 and can be picked up and returned to College Hall, Room 7.

Requirements for participation include a high school diploma or GED by June 17, 1981 and ability to type 35 to 40 net wpm. Participants must be mature individuals with a desire to increase their awareness of Gallaudet College and the deaf community. Class size is limited to 10 students.

Testing and interviews for class selection will be held between May 18 and May 29. For further information, contact Jones or Grossinger.

Outreach to host regional workshops

Last year the Pre-College Outreach Unit conducted a needs assessment of more than 16 educational programs for hearing impaired persons in 10 states. The assessment showed that one of the greatest needs of teachers was the development of curriculum materials and opportunities for in-service training in the area of social-emotional development of hearing impaired children.

In response to this need, the Affiliated Schools Program of the Outreach Unit is hosting a regional workshop on May 7 and 8 for teachers and support personnel. The workshop is being coordinated by Debbie Pollicove, coordinator of the Affiliated Schools Program.

The workshop, called Social-Emotional Learning Formats (SELF), was designed by outreach's Jo Israelson as a hands-on workshop and uses instructional support from both KDES and MSSD.

"The May workshop is a pilot which we will evaluate and revise if needed," said Israelson. "Then we hope to offer it to other programs as well."

Fifty-four participants representing the Scranton (PA) School for the Deaf, Pennsylvania State School for the Deaf, Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf, West Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind, the Margaret E. Sterck School (DE) for the Deaf, the Maryland School for the Deaf, KDES and MSSD are expected to attend.

KDES and MSSD personnel involved in the workshop include Charlotte Church, Ingrid Willenz-Isaacs, Stephen-Mark Ulissi, Marianne Sasseen, Ruth Anne Hutchinson and Peggy Rickard.
